

OPEN CALL | performance plus 2019

following our six-month focus last year, MoT+++’s performance art programme will return as performance plus 2019 from November 18 – December 21. this is an open call for artists or individuals working in the medium who would like the opportunity to develop a work, or experiment with the boundaries of performance.

we would like to hear from anyone of any discipline or nationality to discuss further the possibility of joining the programme, for a single event or as a resident. we are keen to allow artists the flexibility to explore the medium so do not require applications to include a proposal.

to apply please email info@motplus.xyz with:

- a CV
- some examples of your work
- your availability

performance plus 2019 will once again see MoT+++ open as a platform for performance art. the experimental programme challenges the concept of performance, and encourages artists to challenge the definition and boundaries of the medium. over the course of the month, MoT+++ will host invited resident artists, as well as offer its space as a platform for any artist or individual to perform or present their work who would like to. last year saw an incredibly diverse range of performances and performative activities from a mixture of local and visiting artists. artists that joined as a resident included Phu Luc, Aliansyah Caniago, Enkhbold Togmidshiirev and Lai Dieu Ha. the programme hosted over 30 events featuring planned and spontaneous performances, public workshops and artist presentations that took place at MoT+++ and other satellite locations.
